A Public Nuisance.

We refer—more than refer, we point to, we inculcate, cite and arraign, Richmond Pearson Hobson as a public nuisance, who fails to be a menace to public peace solely because the sensible American people, startled at first by his positive assurances of what he "knows" with not take him seriously. He has been going over the country preaching an unholy war, slandering a peaceable nation, swinging Bellona's torch and mouthing the abuses of Shim-el or Theristes. He is a public nuisance and a national disgrace.

We have had him first prancing and dancing over the country, ridiculing and making the best of the martial heroes, but of late as the panoplied apostle of militant peace, making a new campaign around the Chautauquas and the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s of the land, no longer as le balaiste, ringed with lovelocks, but changed to a frenzied god of battle, flying over our peaceful heavens, swinging the red thunderbolts of battle, and his head horrent with spired serpents, spitting flame and shaking pestilence and war. "War! war!" has been his strident cry, till we could think that the three Fates, and the three Furies, and the three Gorgons, and nine devils, and the dreaded name of Demogorgon, were in his train. We had hoped that the stout shaft of our correspondent, Dr. J. H. DeForest's logic might have quenched his madness, as it has given confidence to all intelligent people, but he has steered his flight westward and found resting for unblest feet at Denver, and there, to the makers of the Democratic platform for a full hour and a quarter, he prophesied and threatened war, declared it was coming from Japan within four short years, declared that already Japan has a huge army of trained soldiers in Hawaii, that on the Pacific coast there were as many as were practicing the military art in shooting galleries, that the Philippines will be as easily snatched from us as will Hawaii, and that then terrible Japan will rule ocean and continent as far as the Rocky mountains, while we, poor fools unprepared, our ships blown up, our harbors captured, our coasts ravaged, will be driven back to the Mississippi or the Atlantic to become our drudges in not listening to this modern Tiresias of Greensboro, Ala.

The committee on platform listened to him with open-mouthed wonder. Some believed and some doubted. He begged them to put in an iron-clad plank for a big war. The next day he was called to the platform to address the convention and the galleries. He began to repeat his well-worn tale of terror, but this time they were not impressed. When he looked to curdle their blood, telling them that "not so very long ago the president of the United States said in my presence, 'There exists the greatest possibility of a war with Japan,'" the disrespectful audience called out, "Come off!" "Hot!" "You're crazy!" and he had to subside. Then the chairman, Mr. Bell, said, "The chair calls from the Pacific coast and up to the present moment he has seen no occasion to enlist," and the people roared with laughter. The next day President Roosevelt elected him an active member of the Annapolis club.

Congressman Hobson is ridiculous, but his campaign of slander and war is no laughing matter. He has been supported by lyceums and associations that have the curiosity to see and hear the man who settled a coal ship and was supposed to cultivate kissing bees. He has the gift of speech and he has one mischievous obsession: There are people enough in Alabama to believe his insanity is not obvious enough to require confinement in an asylum, but they thought he would yield to the constraint required of a new member in the Capitol. He has escaped, he is rabid, foaming and frothing, his tumult and wrath in; he is a nuisance.

When Wall Dad—"His sire was leaky of tongue and pen. His dam was a clucking, Knutcock hen!" carried his curse of an unstanched speech to the Red Chief, Ghomai Hyder, at Kabul, and told him the army of the Russ was coming, then the king smiled a smile as dark as death, and bade the babbling mischief maker climb a peach tree and shout when the Russians came, and stay there till they came: "The Russ is upon us," the clamor ran; "Surely an hour shall bring their van—Wait and watch!"

and twenty bayonets ringed the tree to catch him if he fell. But that was in Kabul, and the king's jest belittled the old days. We cannot so utilize one of our peach trees.—The Independent.

ABOUT THE STATE

A train at Barton Landing ran into the herd of Asa Harris' cows which had strayed onto the track, killing three cows and a bull.

Marion Easterbrooks of Sutton, who will be 90 years old August 24, rides the horse rake and hay tender this summer, and seems to enjoy it very much.

R. W. Bishop, patent attorney, of Washington, D. C., reports the issue of a patent on a machine for turning eccentric rings, to G. O. Gridley of Windsor.

Caspian Lake Grange, which was organized at Greensboro June 23, 1907, with forty-four members and has since added thirty-two, is in a flourishing condition. The Grange has fitted up the town hall and purchased extensive furnishings.

The Grey Camp Association of Barnard with a capital stock of $675, has filed articles of association in the office of the secretary of the state at Montpelier. The Greensboro Bend Building Association, with a capital stock of $2,000, and the Pierce-Robinson Manufacturing Co. of Rochester and Hancock with a capital stock of $25,000, have also filed articles of incorporation.

Charles Phillips and son, of Brooklyn, N. Y., have been in Greensboro for a few days looking up the records of his great-grandfather, John Phillips, who was one of the early settlers of the town. He was one of the original members of the Congregational church, organized in 1804, and he died in 1805, but no trace of his burial place has been found. His wife went from Greensboro to Massachusetts after her husband's death.

Miss Bertha Mann, who, during the past school year was instructor in shorthand at the Rutland high school, has sent her resignation to Supt. D. B. Locke. F. E. Mitchell, who was principal of the commercial department, has also tendered his resignation and will go next fall to Bradford, Pa., where he has secured a better position. Both were recommended by the teachers' committee of the board of education for re-election this year.

WALT WHITMAN'S SISTER DEAD.

Mrs. Hannah L. W. Heyde Succumbs to Old Age.

Burlington, July 19.—Mrs. Hannah Louisa Whitman Heyde, the last surviving sister of the poet, Walt Whitman, died at her home in this city Saturday, after an illness of several months from infirmities due to old age.

Mrs. Heyde was 84 years old and was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., where she was married to Charles L. Heyde, a landscape artist, and an intimate friend of the poet.

Shortly after the close of the Civil war, Mr. Heyde came here with his wife to paint some scenes on Lake Champlain and he was so favorably impressed with the place that he made his home here for the remainder of his life. He died about 15 years ago. They had no children.

Mrs. Heyde's body will be taken to Camden, N. J., for burial in the Whitman family tomb, where lies the body of the poet.

PEARY THANKFUL.

Polar Explorer Wires Judge Darling of Burlington.

Burlington, July 20.—Just before setting sail from Sydney yesterday in search of the north pole, Commander Peary wired a farewell message to Collector Charles H. Darling of this city. Mr. Darling as assistant secretary of the navy was instrumental in a large measure in promoting Mr. Peary's polar expeditions. The message read:

"Am sailing today. Sincere thanks for your interest and assistance. May all go well with you and yours.

Her Ideal.

Does she sigh for the knight of the olden days?
To break a lance in some manly bout?
Does she mourn for the lover of ancient ways?
With the valor brave and the courage stout?
I have not heard of her.

Does she weep for the bean with the stalwart form,
The ruddy cheek and the flashing eye?
For the old-time bean with the hand-clasp warm
And the tender heart, does this maiden sigh?
We haven't noticed it.

Does she wait for the swain with the willing hand,
Who must hoe his row in the good old style?
Does she yearn for the chap without house and land,
Because of his cheerful, winning smile?
I don't think so.

Does she nab the fellow with lots of dough,
Without a thought of his name or worth?
Does she glibly the youth who has got the "go,"
In spite of his manners or name or birth?
It looks that way.

Does she "nail" the suitor with wealth to burn,
In spite of vocation or age or phiz?
Does she drop all chaff when it comes her turn?
And make the fellow get down to biz?
She does indeed.

MARYLAND BUILDING STONE.

State Geologist Clark Reports an Increase in Production the Past Year.

William Bullock Clark, state geologist of Maryland, reports that the stone industry in that state experienced great prosperity during 1907, chiefly on account of the increased use of crushed stone in concrete and road construction. There was some decline in the building-stone trade, including granite, marble, limestone and slate, the chief building-stone products of the state. Granite, with which are included gneiss, diorite and trap, showed a considerable increase in production for the reason above given, while the marble, limestone and slate suffered a decrease. The total value of the stone production during 1907 was $1,527,177, as compared with $1,370,924 in 1906, an increase of over 10 per cent. for the year.

The production of clays and clay products showed something of a decrease for 1907, largely due to the marked decline in the amount of brick and tile burned in the latter months of the year when building became less active. The difficulty experienced throughout the year in securing labor retarded production earlier in the year when the demand was greatest. The total value of the production of clay and clay products in 1907, including brick, tile, pottery, etc., was $1,863,316, as compared with $2,178,618 in 1906, a loss of 13 per cent.

The production of sand and gravel was somewhat less than in recent years owing to the completion of the filtration plant for the city of Washington. In the construction of which large quantities of sand and gravel had been required. The demand for building purposes and concrete, however, increased. The total value of these products for 1907 was $277,106, as compared with $283,707 in 1906, a loss of $6,601. The value of the production of lime and cement during 1907 was $404,709, as against $383,135 in 1906, an increase of nearly 6 per cent.

The value of the production of field-spar and flint in 1907 was placed at $90,800, as against $126,832 in 1906.—From "Stone."

A Change in Styles.

When William Taft is president, heigho! In 1909

How styles will change. No one of us will then train down too fine. Horse jockeys will begin to stuff, and ere they go their rounds

Each one will have to tip the scale at full two hundred pounds. May Irwin will not have to hant in one continuous Lent.

But she can amble out and sing, when Taft is president.

Thin men of every shape and size will hide themselves away. All hollow cheeks will be tabooed, all diets be passe.

All hatchet faces will be mobbed. Each girl we love must be So fat she'll quiver in our arms in round tectany.

Round-bellied acrobats must steer balloons they represent. All cooks must sleep in double beds, when Taft is president.

The corporations will not be confined to just a few. But all the common people will have corporations, too.

No one will dare to worry, though in debt we'll gladly smile. For we might lose flesh by worry, and we wouldn't be in style;

And though hard times are coming and we're broke, we'll still present. Our joyful curves to all the world, when Taft is president.

—Judge.

O. D. MATTHEWS, County Examiner, Barre, Vt., July 11, 1908.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time. It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germs, which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide. Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide. Accept no substitute. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send the stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

E. A. Drown, Special Agent.

FOUR LINES FOR 25 CENTS

The Times will publish Wants, Lost and Found, For Sale, To Let, etc.—short advertisements at the rate of four lines for twenty-five cents for the first insertion and five cents for each subsequent insertion.
